Exceptional Experiences

Edwardian Hotels London is one of the UK's largest and most dynamic independent companies. Founded by Jasminder Singh OBE in 1977, Edwardian has been developing leading luxury hotel and hospitality brands ever since.

Edwardian's hotel portfolio includes The Londoner; two Radisson Collection Hotels, The May Fair and The Edwardian Manchester; as well as ten Radisson Blu Edwardian hotels in London.

With an enviable collection of luxurious distinctive hotels, restaurant brands and spas, Edwardian's individual style and design encapsulates its unique position in the most desirable locations within London and Manchester.

What has made us so successful in realising our ambition for over 40 years is our ability to deliver a truly exceptional experience to our guests - time and time again. So that even the shortest stay with us will be a long-lasting memory.

Designed to stimulate as well as relax, with service that anticipates but never assumes, these are hotels that celebrate distinction.

Culture of Care

Sustainability

Edwardian Hotels London is deeply committed to the global task of creating a better future for us and generations to come. We continuously review and evolve our practices, partnerships and behaviours to fulfil our ambition to become an industry ambassador for sustainability. It's in our best interest to promise our guests, delegates and staff a clear environmental conscience when engaging with us.

The group's head of responsible business oversees initiatives that reduce the use of energy, minimise carbon footprint and water and food wastage across our properties. Our sustainable mission is reviewed annually through a Responsible Business Report, and monthly meetings are held to facilitate cross departmental collaborations that align with UN Sustainable Development Goals, International Tourism Partnership Goals and The Mayoral Commitment hotels that celebrate distinction.

Charity

We are committed to supporting a number of charities each year, many of which are within our local communities. We offer support through the skills of our employees and the business' own resources. We also provide an access fund for our staff each month, which allows them to nominate a charity which is close to their heart to support.

We are delighted to be the official corporate fundraising partner to Cancer Research UK, with funds raised by the wider company going to the Francis Crick Institute in London, a world-leading centre of biomedical research and innovation.
